Redefining Return-to-Work

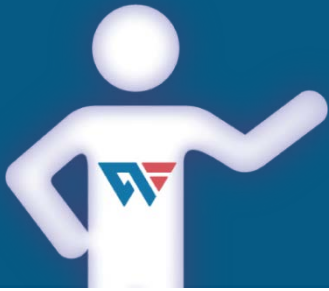

Your Toughest Return-to-Work Cases Resolved

Are you ready to lower your claim costs?

Workfinders USA – specialists in permanently restricted claims resolution

www.workfindersusa.com

Welcome to a game-changing return-to-work service.

Workfinders USA takes your most challenging claims – those with permanent restrictions – and brings to you and your injured worker a meaningful, cost-effective resolution.

We help your injured worker find suitable employment. We help you uncover cost savings while doing your best for your employee. Our services combine industry expertise and hands-on interaction with your workers, potential employers, and you to ensure claim resolution that best fits with each unique claim.

We're different. Here's how:

We assess

We get to know your injured worker. We assess limitations, previous job functions, and worker background. Our certified rehabilitation counselor conducts an assessment and shares the results with all parties.

We source jobs

We locate jobs that fit. Workfinders USA goes beyond work-from-home tasks – we research suitable openings and contact companies to discuss positions. We give your injured worker real job possibilities, not lukewarm job listings culled from the Internet.

We get involved

We advocate for your injured worker. We communicate directly with hiring managers to ensure all restrictions are accommodated. We arrange interviews, communicate with your worker, and deliver job possibilities that match your injured worker's skills and interests.

We follow up

Unlike most RTW vendors, we go well beyond simply providing a list of job openings. We ensure a successful outcome by following up post-interview with employers, and we document the results.

We test compliance

How do you know if your injured worker shows up for interviews? Because we schedule interviews and follow up with hiring managers, we can uncover instances of noncompliance – the feedback provided helps you build a strong negotiating platform.

We manage claims aggressively

We won't rest until your case is resolved. We take charge, working hard to give your injured worker the best potential for success. We advocate, follow up, and document the entire process.

Permanently restricted no longer has to mean permanently idle.

Your injured worker deserves a chance at a productive, meaningful career. Workfinders USA helps make that happen by focusing on the strengths and limitations of each permanently restricted employee. From locating job opportunities to ensuring all limitations are accommodated, we act as advocates for your injured worker.

We call prospective employers. We communicate your injured worker's requirements, and we secure interviews. Plus, we follow up with both the worker and the employer and document the entire process.

OUR DIFFERENCE

We take your claim seriously. That's why we won't give you the same, tired Internet-sourced, work-from-home positions that don't offer injured workers any challenge or value. We work with you, your injured worker, and potential employers to develop solid job opportunities that give workers a sense of pride in themselves and their careers.

SUSPECT A PROBLEM?

Not all injured workers are telling the whole story. That's where our RTW process goes beyond typical return-to-work services. Through our unique approach, we are able to uncover noncompliance and give you the documentation you need. This gives you critical claim leverage in any settlement proceeding.

The result: faster, more satisfying settlement of long-tail claims and happier, more productive workers.

Workfinders USA versus the Competition

WORKFINDERS USA

We source suitable jobs that match your injured worker's skills/interests. We call potential employers directly.

We advocate for the injured worker, ensuring potential employers can accommodate their needs.

We schedule in-person interviews for the injured worker.

We follow up with hiring managers and document all interview activity.

We provide evidence of noncompliance.

We deliver quick, efficient claim resolution that reduce claim costs.

OUR COMPETITORS

They search unreliable online job boards, not checking to see if the position has been filled.

They provide little, if any, advocacy.

They provide just job leads and expect injured workers to arrange their own interviews.

They provide no follow-up.

They don't provide ample documentation, if any.

They allow claims to remain stagnant, with little effort to reduce your claims.

Why Workfinders?

We save you money.
